

Swimming's coming home!

The Brighton Swimming Centre in Eastern road has recently been recognised by the Amateur Swimming Association as the swimming pool "where more swimming teachers are trained than any other" swimming pool in the UK.

Ella Scott -Acting manager of Swim UK said "We have been training teachers since 1995 and established the "apprenticeship" in swimming teaching. We are very committed to the development of swimming in all its forms and having this recognition is overwhelming! Credit must go to our tutors and support staff!"

Paul Smith Owner of Swim UK' commented "The Brighton Swimming Centre has become a great base for us. We had to step in quickly 2 years ago to take over the pool when the former school that owned it closed suddenly. We have worked tirelessly to improve the facilities and offer an exciting swimming programme ranging from children's lessons to sea swimming programmes for adults via our "pool to pier" courses. It's also now the UK's most dedicated learning facility for swimming teachers!"

"Learning to swim is such a fundamentally important skill for everyone and Brighton was originally the home of swimming (or bathing as it was called then). We are striving to make Brighton the centre of swimming again!"

Swim UK has also recently launched a training programme for the unemployed whereby learners can qualify as lifeguards and swimming teachers for free and be given advice and guidance in finding employment in the leisure industry.

Anyone interested in learning to swim, developing their skills in the sea or becoming a Swimming Teacher should contact the Brighton Swimming Centre on 01273 434400 or go to www.swimuk.co.uk.
